The purpose of site-based decision-making in the Fort Worth Independent School District is to improve student achievement.

OVERVIEW

The purpose of site-based decision-making (SBDM) in the FWISD is to improve student achievement. Through SBDM, many significant decisions at the campus level will benefit from a consideration of the perspectives of all stakeholders. These decisions involve administrators, teachers, parents, business representatives and community members as partners in the business of increasing student achievement.

While the SBDM team is structured to provide meaningful participation on relevant issues, it should be clearly noted that the principal is responsible and accountable for all decisions made at the campus level. In Fort Worth, site-based decision-making is based upon three basic premises:

- (1) those most closely affected by decisions should have input into making those decisions;
- (2) educational reform will be most effective and long-lasting when carried out by people who feel a sense of ownership and responsibility for the process; and
- (3) given the opportunity and support, people will willingly take responsibility and accountability for their decisions.

This document provides basic information about site-based decision-making in the Fort Worth Independent School District. SBDM team members will be provided a copy of this document when they attend a SBDM training session. Because site-based decision-making is not a static process and must be continually monitored and adjusted, information will be collected to determine the quality and level of SBDM implementation in the District on an on-going basis. This information will be shared with SBDM teams to identify and provide necessary training, support, and resources.

The Fort Worth Independent School District's plan for site-based decision-making was approved by the Commissioner of Education in October 1992 and is updated annually. The plan, originally developed by the District-Wide Instructional Advisory Committee and the School-Based Decision-Making Task Force, addressed the following components:

- a commitment to improved academic outcomes for all students;
- a statement of purpose that addressed the uniqueness of each campus;
- a structure and procedures for advisory committees to use in participatory decision-making;
- decentralized parameters in the six areas to be addressed: planning, budgeting, curriculum, school organization, staffing patterns and staff development;
- a plan for staff development and technical assistance to prepare the Board of Education, central office, campus staff, parents and community to implement effective site-based decision-making; and
- procedures for evaluating the effectiveness of decision-making.

This document builds on the initial plan by revising some components and adding others. The plan will be reviewed and updated periodically to ensure that it reflects both best practice and state and local requirements.

Site-based decision-making (SBDM) was introduced in the Fort Worth
Independent School District
(FWISD) in the summer of 1981

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Site-based decision-making (SBDM) was introduced in the Fort Worth Independent School District in the summer of 1981. It was piloted in several schools during the 1981-82 school year. During 1982-83 a planning group of principals, teachers, central office staff and parents was established to determine the roles of staff and community in planning and evaluating SBDM at the campus level.

Staff and community participation in SBDM increased during the 1983-84 school year with the formation of a number of SBDM special interest groups. Members explored a variety of issues, including site-based budgeting, community-school collaboration, instructional television, use of technology and special academic programs.

In August 1984 the District SBDM committee issued a progress report outlining the basic philosophy, objectives, and operational guidelines. Information in this document was included in summer and fall 1984 training sessions for SBDM teams. Following this training, SBDM was implemented in schools during the 1984-85 school year and in succeeding school years.

With variations in degrees of support and training offered over time, SBDM remains a viable strategy for making informed decisions at the campus level. To increase the level of student achievement at all schools, the District must continue to provide clarification and direction so that site-based decision-making can have an even more significant impact.

HANDBOOK PURPOSE

This handbook will provide those with a stake in the site-based decision-making process with accurate, current information about the District's plan for site-based decision-making, as well as state and local regulations supporting its implementation.

DEFINITION, PURPOSE AND EXPECTED

RESULTS OF SBDM IN FWISD

Definition

Site-based decision-making in the Fort Worth Independent School District is a process whereby a principal regularly consults the campus-level committee in the planning, operation, supervision and evaluation of the campus educational program. Education Code 11.253(h)

Purpose

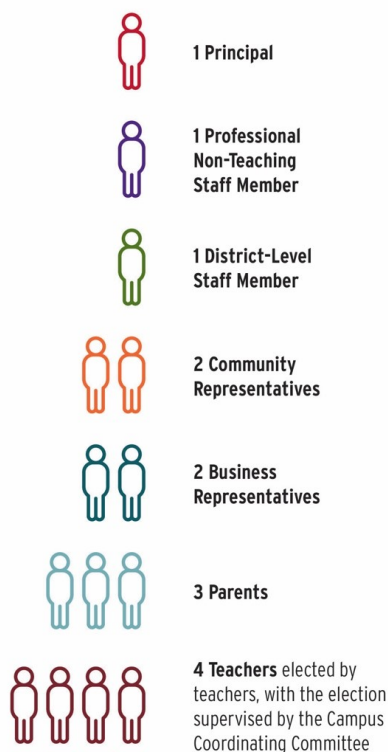

The purpose of site-based decision-making in the FWISD is to improve the level of student achievement for all students in all schools.

Expected Results

The major outcome of site-based decision-making is improved student achievement as a result of:

- effective District and campus planning;
- increased community involvement in the school improvement process;
- clearly established accountability objectives for all student groups;
- improved communication and information flow;
- participatory decision-making;
- pervasive and long-term commitment to increasing the quality of site-based decision-making; and
- coordination of “regular” and special program components.

The purpose of site-based decision-making in the FWISD is to improve the level of student achievement for all students in all schools.

The core group of 14 shall ensure that racial and gender diversity is reflected on the team.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The role and responsibility of the site-based decision-making team are to provide input to the principal within the scope of state law and local policy.

The Campus Employee Relations Council (CERC) is a subcommittee of the SBDM team established for open communication between the principal and the faculty. The CERC shall function in an advisory role in decisions affecting faculty members. The principal shall seek the advice of the CERC when appropriate, and the CERC may bring concerns to the principal as it deems necessary. Through the DERC and the CERC, the District may promote and maintain unity and harmony between teachers and administrators within the local school unit. [Board Policy DGB(LOCAL)]

SBDM does not change the legal governance of schools. School Boards will continue to retain legal authority for the operation of school districts. Superintendents and principals will continue to retain responsibility for the quality of education provided by the school districts and schools.

COMPOSITION OF SBDM TEAM

The SBDM team is the primary mechanism for implementing participatory decision-making at the school level. Within FWISD, SBDM teams must have a minimum of fourteen members. This core group of fourteen members shall be established annually, no later than September 1 of each school year, and will consist of:

- the campus principal
- four teachers (nominated and elected by teachers only to serve on the SBDM team, with the election to be supervised by the Principal and members of the SBDM team). These teachers will be considered for representation on the Campus Employee Relations Council (CERC).
 - From among the elected faculty, one representative will be elected annually by the SBDM team to serve on the District Employee Relations Council (DERC).

Teachers are professional personnel with classroom teaching responsibilities for at least four hours of the instructional day;

- one campus-based non-teaching professional staff member (nominated and elected by non-teaching professional staff only with the election supervised by the Principal and members of the SBDM team). This individual will be considered for representation on the CERC and the DERC.

Campus-based non-teaching professional staff include those who hold a professional certificate but do not teach at least four hours a day.

- one district-level professional staff member (nominated and elected by all professional staff with the election to be supervised by the Principal and members of the SBDM team).

A district-level staff member is one who serves multiple campuses.

- three parents (elected by parents only with the election to be supervised by the predominant parent group; membership in the predominant parent group is not required). A parent is a person who is a parent of, or who stands in parental relation to, a student enrolled in the District. A parent representative cannot be a FWISD employee.

- two community members selected by the principal and the elected members.

Community members must reside in the district and must be at least 18 years of age. [Education Code 11.251(c)(4)]

They must not be a parent or a District employee. They must be representative of the community's diversity.

- two business community representatives selected by the principal and the elected members.

Business representatives need not reside in nor operate businesses in the district. [Education Code 11.251(b)] They should be representative of the community's diversity.

At least two-thirds of team members who represent elected campus-based staff must be teachers (professional personnel with classroom teaching responsibilities for at least four hours of the instructional day).

The terms for the elected members are determined in the bylaws.

In addition, individuals as determined by the 14 core members may be added in order that all the school's major constituent groups are adequately represented (i.e. classroom teachers, parents, teacher assistants, other support personnel, community and/or business representatives, and/or students); however, the overall committee shall be balanced with no one constituent group over-represented on the committee. The core group of fourteen shall ensure that racial and gender diversity is reflected on the team.

The SBDM team shall determine the size of the CERC, with a minimum of three and a maximum of six members.

At least two-thirds of team members who represent campus-based elected staff must be teachers (professional personnel with classroom teaching responsibilities for at least four hours of the instructional day).

TERMS

Schools will specify terms for SBDM members in their by-laws. Those schools that choose to implement staggered terms must provide for the election of at least one teacher and one parent each year.

VACANCIES

A vacancy in an elected position must be filled by election, and a vacancy in a selected position shall be filled by a selection by the remaining members of the team.

TEAM PROCESSES AND PROCEDURES

Each team must:

- develop and agree on an organizational structure for addressing decisions in the areas of planning, budgeting, curriculum, staffing patterns, school organization, and staff development;
- establish processes (such as ad hoc committees/task forces, and/or subcommittees, such as a Title I committee) to examine issues in depth and develop recommendations;
- establish decision-making procedures and/or processes for reaching agreement;
- select the District Employee Relations Council (DERC) representative from among the faculty representatives elected to the SBDM;
- establish processes for submission of issues to the team for consideration and for communication with all members of the school community about its activities;
- approve the portions of the campus plan addressing campus staff development needs. Education Code 11.253(e); and
- hold at least one public meeting per year, after the receipt of the annual campus rating from the Texas Education Agency, to discuss the performance of the campus and the campus performance objectives. Education Code 11.253(g)

The principal is responsible and accountable for all decisions made at the campus level.

PARTICIPATION IN DECISION-MAKING

With participatory decision-making comes increased building-level accountability for making informed decisions. Legislation requires the principal to consult regularly and to receive input from the team in the areas of planning, budgeting, curriculum, school organization, staffing patterns, and staff development. The SBDM team must approve the staff development portion of the Campus Educational Improvement Plan (CEIP). The team will meet at the call of the principal and must meet a minimum of six times per year.

The superintendent is an integral part of the collaborative decision-making process. Further, nothing in the decision-making process shall be construed to limit or affect the power of the local board of trustees to manage and govern the school district.

Even in an environment that nurtures participation, there will continue to be three types of decisions made on a daily basis: command, consultative and collaborative. While the focus of this handbook is on the collaborative nature of SBDM, principals will frequently have to make command decisions in which time or circumstances require that a decision be made with little or no stakeholder input. Other times principals will make a decision after consulting with some stakeholders. Collaborative decisions generally take longer, but they result in greater buy-in for stakeholders.

The principal is responsible and accountable for all decisions made at the campus level. It is the principal's responsibility to ensure that all decisions are in compliance with local and state policy. The role of the SBDM team is advisory, and its input into decision-making is intended to improve the quality of decisions made by the principal. Factors that influence the type of decision a principal will choose to make in a given situation include (1) the time available and (2) the necessity of stakeholder support. When there is time available and when stakeholder support is desired, the principal may elect to engage in collaborative decision-making. However, the level of participation by the SBDM team in the decision-making process is determined by the principal.
